

Schlumberger

Schlumberger, the world leader in the area of technology for the oil and gas industry, strives to achieve perfection in all its areas of activity. Clients trust Schlumberger, especially when it comes to valuable or confidential information. The reputation of the company as a sincere and honest partner plays a key role in the winning and maintaining of clients' trust.

Janus helps Schlumberger in this, providing quality service and complete language support for the client's business.

We took on the completion of large projects, during the execution of which, effective reaction to the requests of the client, coordination of the project group's work, accuracy of the timetable created and the possibility of its adaptation all play a key role. The high level of preparation of Janus experts is also important, as well as translators with knowledge of the indicated theme, we recruited rewriters and copywriters, who help in the completion of all marketing translations at the appropriate level.

A personal manager and a special project team were delegated for work with Schlumberger, which facilitated the appropriate creation of dialog with the client and played an important role in the development of relationships between the companies.

Challenges

- Strict demands for the quality of technical translation, strict observation of terminology
- Professional marketing adaptation of translated materials
- Completion of a high volume projects in tight deadlines

Solutions

- Recruitment of professionals with a field of expertise in oil and gas industry
- A dedicated project team led by an experienced manager, a client orientated approach and ensuring close communication, availability and responsiveness
- Implementation of workflows to allow for quick turnaround and rigorous
- Quality Assurance process

Solution elements

- Quick turnaround translation process
- Marketing translation, copywriters and editors
- Dedicated specialist resource and project managers

Since 1996, Janus Worldwide has specialized in translating technical, engineering and scientific content thus making it possible for companies from every industry sector to expand economically by obtaining new partners in promising regions to boost sales while minimizing risks.

We have established long-term cooperation with such industry leaders as ABB, Alstom, Siemens, Schlumberger.

