

www.janusww.com

SIEMENS

For over 10 years, Janus has been supporting a partnership relationship with Siemens, a leading company in the area of automation and control, industry, energy and medicine.

Janus completes the translation of medical equipment certificates with notary certification, technical documentation on electronics and security systems for Siemens.

We put the emphasis on quality, efficiency, professionalism and modern management standards, therefore over the course of many years we have been able to strengthen and develop our cooperation.

Over recent years, the volume of translation for the Siemens offices has increased significantly, the subject matter area has widened and Janus experts have completed a series of large scale projects in the area of Life Science and medicine.

Challenges

- A full cycle of services: translation, editing, proofreading, desktop publishing and business printing
- Translation of user manuals for the most complex diagnostic devices
- Consistent layout, style and terminology for internal and external documentation
- Stringent observation of Siemens corporate standards

Solutions

- Recruitment of highly qualified experts who are well versed in a range of fields
- Building of a project team of professionals with a medical education
- Dedicated project managers, designer and a group of page makers adding scalable expertise

Solution elements

- Complex technical translation services
- Desktop publishing services
- QA and proofreading services

From clinical trial to final product launch, life science companies face intense pressure meeting all regulatory and compliancy requirements.

Janus Worldwide is an ISO 9001:2015 certified full service translation and localization provider with multilingual solutions for the global medical industries such as medical devices organizations, pharmaceutical companies and biotech businesses.